SUBJECT: Attempted RRP Work Site Inspection at 3144 Y Street, Lincoln, NE

On 03/18/2015 I was driving past the residence at 3144 Y Street, Lincoln, NE when I observed a van with what looked like rolls of linoleum floor covering and a ladder on the roof top carrier parked on the front lawn in front of the front door and sheets of new drywall material on the front porch. I drove around to the alley at the rear of the residence and upon driving past observed a dumpster full of debris at the rear of the residence. A person, later identified as Mynor Herrera, was observed tossing a shovel full of dirt and debris into the dumpster which was sitting in front of the garage. I drove to the front of the residence and approached one of the workmen that was carrying a roll of flooring from the van. I asked him who was in charge and he identified Mr. Herrera who was in the back at the garage. I observed paint chips on the walk at the entrance to the front porch so I returned to my vehicle and retrieved my camera. As I photographed the front of the residence from the street in front of the residence Mr. Herrera approached me from the rear of the residence. I asked if he was in charge and he said yes. I advised him who I was, provided him with my business card and showed him my credentials and advised him of my purpose for being there. I asked him what work was going on and he said they were painting the inside of the residence. He said the residence was recently purchased by David Fiala, LHP LLC. He said he was advised by Mr. Fiala that no government agency that was wanting to inspect his properties were allowed to inspect unless they had paper work that allowed them too. He stated I could call Mr. Fiala if I wanted too. I contacted Jamie Green at this time and it was decided not to inspect the work site at this time. One photograph of the front of the residence was taken.
